

FAQs

Find answers here to the most frequently asked questions about The Praise Factory family of cu

Other Questions

1. Why do you use so much repetition?

Too many times I've found that children don't remember what we teach them because we only in

2. Are you an advocate of the children's church or family integrated models of

We see parents as the primary spiritual caregivers for their children. They support us as partners

We are agreed on the goal of deliberate, parent-led spiritual formation, yet will not dictate or

No one can doubt that children have many cognitive and developmental differences from adults:

For all these reasons, many parents at our church feel that they are serving their children best by

And so, we endeavor to encourage and support our parents in a number of different, appropriate

What exactly does this look like in our churches? We have parents who are pastors and those who are

We have another set of parents who choose to partner with other godly church members to teach

And we have yet another set of parents who partner with other church members to teach

So, you can see that we have a wide variety of parents, all taking seriously their responsibility to

□

